The Terms of Use below apply to every ‘Go by transitspotter’ website, and any other site or service I operate (each a "Site," collectively "Sites"). By using a Site, you agree to these Terms. If you don't agree, don't use it.

Who this is for

My Sites are built for transit enthusiasts, foamers, railfans, crew and operations people, and the generally curious, essentially anyone who wants to understand how bus, rail, or ferry service actually runs. They exist to make publicly available (or specifically licensed) operational data easier to explore!

Responsible use

Some of what my Sites show is detailed enough to be misused. Used as intended, it's a resource for understanding how transit and transportation systems operate. Used carelessly, it can cross into monitoring a specific person or group rather than services. This section sets out what counts as responsible use of my Sites.

You agree not to use any Site, or data obtained from it, to:

- Identify, follow, monitor, or contact a specific individual or group, or infer their movements, schedule, identity, or personal routine
- Stalk, harass, intimidate, dox, or threaten any person or organization
  Interfere with, endanger, or unlawfully monitor vehicle, rail, or vessel operations
- Violate any law, or promote illegal or life-threatening activity
- Post, transmit, or associate with a Site any content that is abusive, racist, discriminatory, homophobic, hateful, violent, threatening, obscene, rude, inflammatory, defamatory, or pornographic
- Make knowingly false, deceptive, or misleading claims using a Site's data, name, or branding
- Make unproven or inaccurate accusations against any individual or organization
- Use exclusionary, "us vs. them" rhetoric directed at any group
- Scrape, bulk-download, reverse-engineer, or systematically harvest data beyond normal interactive browsing, or redistribute or resell that data, without my prior written permission
- Otherwise act in a way that's offensive, rude, or abusive toward an individual or organization

I reserve the right to restrict, rate-limit, or block access for anyone I reasonably believe is using a Site this way, without notice and without obligation to explain.

Licensed data

Some Sites display data made available to me under a specific agreement or permission from the relevant transit agency. Where that applies, it'll be noted on that Site where appropriate. It does not grant you any rights beyond viewing the data as presented, and the redistribution restriction above applies.

No guaranteed accuracy

Except where a Site explicitly states otherwise (see above), my Sites are not affiliated with, endorsed by, or officially verified by any transit agency, operator, or authority. Where a Site does note such a relationship, it extends only as far as stated and doesn't imply broader endorsement of the Site, its accuracy, or its other content.

Schedule, position, consist, and arrival data, may be delayed, incomplete, outdated, or simply wrong. It's provided for informational and hobbyist purposes only. DO NOT USE it for navigation, safety-critical decisions, or as a substitute for official real-time information from the relevant agency.

Warranty Disclaimer
All content or services provided on my social media or web platforms is “as is” without warranties of any kind, express or implied. I encourage my followers and site users to independently verify the accuracy and completeness of any information before relying on it. By using my platforms, you acknowledge that such use is at your own risk and agree to bear all responsibilities associated with this engagement.
